The HiRISE Science Team release a few hundred images every month. These are intended for research, and so sometimes the Team does not write a caption for the general public. This is one such image, which shows part of a canyon wall within Candor Chasma, which is part of Valles Marineris. The image centered at 7.077°S, 285.197°E (see below image).