These well-defined curving ridges are likely inverted stream channels, probably a delta. Their material was more resistant to erosion than the surrounding terrain, so they stand in gorgeous relief.

The image is centered at 6.246°S, 151.358°E (see below map).